Benefits of vermicompost

Vermicompost is a nutrient rich compost which:

- helps better plant growth and crop yield
- improves physical structure of soil.
- enriches soil with micro-organisms
- attracts deep-burrowing earthworms already present in the soil which indirectly improves fertility of soil.
- increase water holding capacity of soil.
- enhances germination, plant growth, and crop yield.
- improves root growth of plants.
- enriches soil with plant hormones such as auxins and gibberellic acid
- it is helpful in elimination of bio-wastes.

Certificate course in Basic of GST (Goods and Services Tax)

1.0 Overture:

GST stands for “Goods and Services Tax”, and is proposed to be a comprehensive indirect tax levy on manufacture, sale and consumption of goods as well as services at the national level. GST is the paradigm shift in the Indian taxation system which has brought a superfluity of opportunities for finance professionals in the field of practice as well as jobs.

The course is proposed to design for commerce students in order to augment their GST related knowledge. It may cover the basics of GST, important terminologies and concepts, applicability and impacts. It is proposed to provide fundamental & practical knowledge of Procedure of GST Registration, Procedure of GST Return submission. The students will understand GST right from basic theoretical knowledge to practical implications.

To help students with the ongoing changes and to make them GST experts Dada Ramchand Bakhru Sindhu Mahavidyalaya has introduced the “Certificate Course on Basic GST (Goods and Services Tax)”.

2.0 Need of the Course:

GST (Goods and Services Tax) is historical indirect tax reform in India. There has been a paradigm shift in the Indirect Taxation system with the GST rollout on 01st July 2017. It is really important to understand and assimilate the new GST in Indian Taxation System.

All the students, especially enrolling B.Com courses, should possess basic knowledge of GST taxation system in India. Curriculum for Bachelor of Commerce (B.Com) of various universities, including RTM Nagpur University, include a complete subject on Indirect Tax, especially in their final semesters.

Hence, B.Com. Students must know the ongoing changes and to make them GST experts. GST is a new taxation module and many people are not much aware about this. Hence, the people knowing GST will become in demand for the businesses and companies for their better taxation administration. Finally, it is going to create significant job opportunities as well as candidates can work independently on return filing, taxation and statutory compliance.

Introduction:

Bee-keeping/ Apiculture is a process of rearing of honey bee. Throughout the world mainly four species of honey bee exists Apis dorsata, Apis mellifera, Apis indica, Apis florea. Bee by-products like honey, wax, royal jelly and propolis has a good market value. Rearing and maintenance of artificial bee hive is a technical skill and should be spread through students and society for the sustainable development.

Objectives:

- Bee-keeping is develops as a cottage industry in India
- It is based on agro-industrial small scale management
- It is a good self employment technique
- Through this course , students should aware about skill and techniques to handle the artificial bee have

Certificate course in Bio-fertilizer Production

Introduction:

Nitrogen, phosphorous and potassium are the three major plant nutrients. Fertilizer industry greatly depends on petroleum reserves that will be almost exhausted. It is estimated that annually 25.1mt of nutrients (N, P, K) are removed from the soil. Whereas, only 15.0 mt are supplied from soil sources including organics. The fertilizer production in our country is less than the required amount. Organics wastes and biofertilizers are the alternate sources to meet the nutrient requirement of crops. Further, knowing the deleterious effects of using only the chemical fertilizers on soil health, use of chemical fertilizers supplemented with organic waste and biofertilizer help in efficient and sustainable management of soil ecosystem.

A biofertilizer is a substance which contains living microorganisms, when applied to seed, or soil, colonizes the rhizosphere or the interior of the plant and promotes growth by increasing the supply or availability of primary nutrients to the host plant. In bio-fertilizer microbes remain symbiotically associate with plant roots and provide lots of beneficial effect to the plant

Certain microorganisms like bacteria; they live freely in the soil and perform nitrogen fixation. Some of them are saprotrophic, living on organic remains, e.g., Azotobacter, Bacillus polymyxa, Clostridium, Beijerinckia. and blue-green algae or free-living cyanobacteria, have the property of nitrogen fixation, e.g., Anabaena, Nostoc, Aulosira, Totyphorix, Cylindrospermum, Stigonema. have the ability to use atmospheric nitrogen and transfer this nutrient to the crop plants. Some of these nitrogen fixer like rhizobia are obligate symbionts in leguminous plants, while others like Azospirillum colonize root zones and fix nitrogen in loose association with plants.

Objectives:

- Bio-fertilizer is ecofriendly, sustainable approach, no harmful effect and improves soil fertility.
- It is based on integrated organic approach over chemical fertilizer.
- It is good self employment technique.
- Easy production and cost- effective.
- Low investment & Market demand

Syllabus:

- Unit-I Introduction, Definition, types of Biofertilizer
- Unit-II Details free living and symbiotic nitrogen fixing Bacteria
- Unit-III Study of Rhizobium and Azotobacter sp.
- Unit-IV Mass Production, Packaging and Marketing

INTRODUCTION

Enzymes are well-known biocatalysts and their discovery is remarkable in the field of bioprocess technology. Enzymes are biocatalysts that catalyze various biochemical reactions in the living organisms. Apart from being catalytic in vivo, enzymes can also act as catalysts in vitro for various reactions. The enzymes find application in various industries, including food, feed, pharmaceutical, diagnostics, detergent, textile, paper, leather, and fine chemical industries and also have proven utility in bio-conversions and bioremediation. These bio-industries require enzymes possessing special characteristics for their applications in processing of substrates and raw materials. The special characteristics of enzymes are exploited for their commercial interest and industrial applications, which include: substrate specificity, tolerance and stability to a varied range of pH and temperature and other harsh reaction conditions, high rate of reaction and biodegradability. These unique properties of enzymes allow enzyme assisted processes in industry to run at milder reaction conditions, with improved yields and reduced waste generation. Industrial applications represent more than 80% of the global market of enzymes. Industrial production of enzymes requires a clear understanding of the associated scientific and technological issues.

OBJECTIVES

The course aims to provide students with understanding of basic fundamental principles of Enzymology. The students will learn and gain knowledge about mode of action of enzymes, factors affecting enzymes activities, isolation and purification of enzymes and industrial applications of enzymes.

Certificate course in Hydroponics

Duration: 3 Months

Objective:

- To develop technical skill of the students.
- To provide self-employment opportunity to the students.
- To apply horticultural knowledge to hydroponic culture.

Coordinator - Dr Megha Bhabri
Assistant Professor
Department of Botany

Introduction :-

Hydroponics is the practice of growing plants without soils. Most commonly, hydroponics cultivates plants in nutrient – rich water, although hydroponics can also be considered to be the practice of growing plants in other aggregates, such as a soil – less bark – based/Perlite or Coir Peat mix. Hydroponics is an advantageous method of cultivation for domestic and commercial use. There are no weeds to deal with, and hydroponic plants are typically more healthy, mature earlier, and use less space.

Hydroponics/Soilless cultivation is a fast mushrooming all over India and there is a dire need for horticulture skills. Some of the students looking at a career can highly benefit from this training certificate course from our reputed institution.

Objective:-

- To develop technical skill of the students.
- To provide self employment oppournity to the students.
- To apply horticultural knowledge to hydroponic culture.

INTRODUCTION

The main concerns of the food industry are the safety of products and brand reputation. Organisations that produce, manufacture, handle or supply ingredients and food recognize the need to assure customers that their products are safe and free from contamination. Failures in the food supply chain can not only be dangerous to customers but prove costly in terms of company reputation, financial penalties and shareholders' value. Food is an essential part of everyday life and managing its preparation is important to make sure the food you serve is safe to eat. High profile food related incidents such as those involving Salmonella and E.coli have only served to increase general awareness of food safety issues. Changes to the food safety legislations will require that all food business, including caterers, apply food safety management procedures based on the principles of Hazards Analysis and Critical Control Point (HACCP) to their business.
